The Observer

A lawyer in a court room may call a man a liar, a scoundrel, villain or thief, and no one makes complaint when court adjourns. If a newspaper prints a reflection on a man's character there is a libel suit or a dead editor. This is owing to the fact that people believe what an editor says.

A mixed farming special train, conducted by the Alberta Department of Agriculture, will arrive on Tuesday, Nov. 5 at 2 p. m. and will be here four hours. The train includes two cars of pure bred cattle, horses, and sheep, and will be used for judging and demonstration purposes, one car of poultry and one dairy car.

Lectures on the following subjects will be given: Live Stock—Judging—feeding and management.

Field Husbandry—Farm crops, weeds and soil cultivation.
Poultry—Housing, breeding, etc.
Dairing—In all its branches.
Domestic science.

This train should prove interesting and instructive to all and ought to be visited by a large number. The stock demonstration will take place soon after arrival.

Heard at Dry Farming Congress:
"Are you a delegate?"
"Yes, and a dry farmer."
"Then let's irrigate," and the sluice gates at the St. George were opened.

Work on the addition of the Terwilliger Co.'s grain elevator will commence shortly. This addition will double their present capacity and will give them a total capacity of 50,000 bushels. By the time the Taylor Milling Co.'s elevator is finished Vulcan will be able to handle over 100,000 bushels at one time through the four companies represented here.

Looking For Miners

Reid Hill, October 28.—W. G. Janson is taking in the big exhibit in Lethbridge this week.

O. A. Reid is now engaged in threshing out his straw stack which pays big. It looks as though the threshing is over in this district; the threshing outfits are moving to the west to find something to do.

Our enterprising merchant, H. Cooper, made a flying trip to Calgary this week.

W. J. Brown has been in Lethbridge a couple of days this week in the endeavor to secure experienced miners for his mine at this place.

HORSE WISDOM.

Put the strained back tendons with cold water and give thorough rubbing with the hands every day.

Never rush a horse on a down grade. This is one of the first causes of spring knees and strained tendons.

It is just as necessary to fit a collar to a horse as it is to fit a shoe to the foot.

Don't work the medium sized team all day in the field and then drive to town that evening.

Young horses should be worked not over a half day at a time at heavy work until hardened to it.

When the play horses are brought in at noon the harness should be removed and the shoulders washed and rubbed dry while they are feeding.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

He Was Awful Strong, but He Took a Dislike to Boxing.

Talking of the padded mitt and its practitioners, some one remembered a story of Tom O'Rourke when he was managing that black warrior, Joe Wolcott. Every now and then some greenhorn would happen along and beg to be tried out. It afforded Mr. O'Rourke and Mr. Wolcott a great deal of innocent pleasure to try them out plenty. On one occasion a large walnut colored man came, but in hand to O'Rourke. "Ah'm most powerful desperit, Mr. O'Rourke," said he, "an' strong! My my, Ah'm that strong Ah'm jes' natchally afraid to leave myself go. Ah want you to watch me to fight wit somebody."

O'Rourke said that would be easily done if the caller was as good a fighter as he believed himself to be. But he'd have to be tried out first. The stranger said he was willing, and O'Rourke called Wolcott. "Take this man out in the gym," said he, "and try him out."

The pair saddled and fenced about for awhile. Then Wolcott got his chance, whanged that right hand over, and the stranger bounced three times before he came to rest. By and by he waked up to find O'Rourke bending over him. "Mebbe Ah'd make a pretty good wrestler, Mr. O'Rourke," said he hopefully. —Cincinnati Times-Star.

WALL STREET TIPSTERS.

They Are a Numerous Tribe and Are Always Ready to Advise.

Wall street is the home of the tipster. You can always find him. You do not need to ask for him. He seeks you out in seductive advertisements, in circulars, letters and all the ways of the shrewd trader. And there are none shrewder than those who nest in Wall street.

You will find the tipsters in every broker's office. Stand at the ticker for a few minutes and hear them as they come up one after another. "This is the time to sell," says one. Directly another appears, takes up the tape, scrutinizes it for a moment, lays it down and exclaims, "A good time to buy!" But go to the head of a house, especially if it be an old, conservative and well established institution, and ask him what he thinks about the market. See how many tips you will get from him. Not many, as a rule.

He will discourse upon the situation, tell you the favorable and unfavorable factors, call attention to certain stocks that may be influenced by current rumors, to others that have new possibilities, to others that may suffer from various reasons, and then he will conclude with a general observation that one man's opinion is as good as another's—Leslie's.

Cold Blooded Man.

"Man is the coldest blooded animal there is," said a well-known doctor. "Man's low temperature," the doctor went on, "is responsible for more than half his ailments. Your normal temperature is 98½ degrees F. It is only when you have a bad temperature that you get as warm as any of the lower animals—that is to say, when you are in a high fever, with a temperature of 102, you are at the normal heat of the cat, the dog, the ox, the rat, and so on. In the coldest of seas the porpoise is never cooler than 100 degrees. The bat, the rabbit, the guinea pig, the hare and the elephant likewise are all cool at 100 degrees. The hen has the highest temperature of all the lower creatures, and it is a good deal warmer, too, when a chicken's temperature then is as high as 111, but age and experience cool its blood by 3 degrees." —New York Globe.

If we did but know how little some enjoy the great things that they possess there would not be much envy in the world.

The Modern Girl.

He—What do you call a real typical modern girl? She—One who professes an heir in the castle to a castle in the air. —London Answers.

MANITOBA S.S. CONVENTION

The 1912 Convention the Biggest and Best Yet
Brandon, November 20th to 22nd.

Preparations are well under way for the Thirty-third Annual Convention of the Manitoba Sunday School Association. It is to be held in Brandon, November 20-22. The railways will carry delegates at single fare for round trip. It will be necessary to secure a certificate from each road travel ed over and when signed by the General Superintendent, will entitle the holder to a free return ticket to their respective homes.

The committee have been fortunate in securing the services of Rev. W. A. Brown of Chicago as the chief speaker. He is one of the strongest men on the Sunday School platform in America.

Prof. L. L. Henry of Chicago, will have full charge of the musical part of the program.

In addition to the outside talent, between forty and fifty of the best speakers and experts of the province both ministers and laymen, will take part.

Some of the leading features of this great gathering will be a number of luncheons—one a Business Men's luncheon at noon hour, a program of addresses, papers and music will follow each of these—a street parade, a great choir of children's voices, Rallies and an Installation service.

This annual gathering has grown in numbers and influence to such proportions that it is one of the greatest delegated bodies meeting in Western Canada. An inspiring and helpful time is assured for who attend. For full information address W. H. Irwin, 62 Scott Block, Winnipeg.

HAD EAD SORES FOUR YEARS

Zam-Buk Has Healed It!

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Ave., Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices, and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years."

"While, of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply."

"Each box did me more, and more good, and, to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!"

"I know a lady in the east of the city, whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely."

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, sores, burns, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

The Oil for the Athlete.—In rubbing down the athlete can find nothing finer than Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It renders the muscles and sinews pliable, takes the soreness out of them and strengthens them for strains that may be put upon them. It stands pre-eminent for this purpose, and athletes who for years have been using it can testify to its value as a lubricant.

Mr. Justyn, said the editor, looking over a new reporter's story of a political meeting, in this writup of yours you say resistless waves of applause from the audience fairly overwhelmed the speaker. Look at the absurdity of that figure of speech. How could a resistless wave of applause or anything else come from an audience? It could come from a sea of upturned faces, couldn't it? insisted the new reporter.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc.

A prisoner on his trial, in answer to the charge pleaded "Not guilty." The jury found the charge proved and in passing sentence the judge said: "You're not only guilty, but you come here and tell lies, saying you're not." The prisoner who followed next for trial was doubtless influenced by this and supposed it would be well for him to take another course, so he pleaded Guilty, in an almost self-satisfied voice.

Oh, you're guilty, are ye, said the judge, and come here to brag about it, do ye?

Gratitude

A little girl was weeping bitterly in the street, greatly to the concern of sympathetic passers-by. At last a benevolent old gentleman approached the little maid, and patting her on the shoulder inquired what was the matter.

I've lost a penny, sir, was the reply given between sobs. The old gentleman promptly thrust a hand into his pocket and brought out a penny, which he handed to the little girl.

She looked at him askance for a few minutes, and then remarked in a tone more of sorrow than anger, Oh, you wicked old man, so 'oo had it all the time!

HISTORICAL PICTURE FILMS

Reproducing Stirring Scenes on Canada's Early History

The stirring times which occurred between the early French settlers on the island of Montreal and the warlike Iroquois who were settled on the island, were vividly rehearsed at Johnson's Point this week by the British American Film Company of Canada, who has taken up camping quarters on this ancient Indian Reserve, for the purpose of reproducing the historical scenes of two hundred years ago when Montreal was but a little village defended by a few Frenchmen against the constant onslaught of the bloodthirsty Indians of the Iroquois tribe who looked upon the French settlers as usurpers and were determined to wipe them out if it were at all possible. It was the story of the gallant defence of Dollard des Armeaux and his sixteen heroes fated in realistic form at Johnson's Point only a short distance from the actual spot where this thrilling episode took place in 1660. The hundreds of real Indians, relics of the Iroquois tribe were present in full warpaint armed with ancient weapons of various kinds, particularly the arrows, some poisoned. The announcement of the approach of the Indians in the thousands was quickly taken up by Dollard who asked for volunteers to set forth on their death journey to intercede the attacking tribe, and repulsing them until each one of them was dead. Sixteen volunteered and the signing of the register was a pathetic scene before the little church at Montreal, demonstrating that they were ready to sacrifice their lives to save the village. Thus they set out and twenty miles from Montreal erected a stockade, awaiting the coming of the Indians. They were joined by forty three Algonquins who were a friendly tribe to the Frenchmen and together they defended the stockade to the death. The approach of the Indians was realistic and made spectators feel creepy but were happy to know that it was a civilised country. The warring of the attackers sounded and resounded like a death knell on the little defending band. Once, nay, twice were the Indians gallantly repulsed with little loss to the defenders, but the friendly Indians lost courage and deserted their comrades and joined the attacking force. Flaming arrows and spears and poisoned arrows were flying in many directions towards the stockade and it was a real wonder how everybody escaped injury in such a realistic performance. The last stand was great but disastrous to the heroes. The defenders prepared a gun for discharging on the attackers and it was rammed tight with powder. When hoisting it to the top of the stockade it fell back and exploded with terrific force killing most of the little band. In the meantime the stockade caught fire and it was a most thrilling sight. The burning of the stockade, the falling of the gate, and the great onrush of hundreds of Indians to finish those surviving was a repetition almost lifelike to what actually occurred, and the scolding was a completion of a scene which was heartrending, but fine from a stage point of view. The Indians danced round in great jubilation at the destruction of the French. But this is only one of the stirring incidents that will be depicted for the moving picture patrons by this company. The pictures will be unloaded very shortly and theatre goers will have an opportunity of reliving to the full the defence of the early settlers of Canada and the stand they made against the bloodthirsty Indians.

Driven by the Sun

Sun heat has been successfully used to raise steam in an engine in Egypt. The sun-power plant and engine are the invention of Mr. Frank Shuman, of Philadelphia. The heating apparatus consists of 572 boxes of sheet-iron, each 3 feet square, framed in stout wood and covered with two sheets of glass, separated by an air space of one inch. All these are mounted on trestles, facing due south, with a surface of 3,300 square feet exposed to the sun's rays. Further heat from the same source is concentrated on the boxes by 6 ft. mirrors, and a temperature of 450 deg. Fahrenheit, more than double boiling-point, can be obtained in this way. The sun power engine is adapted for use in tropical climates, where the cost of fuel exceeds 10s. a ton.

Time-Saving Idea

He was a cashier in a West end business house, and his fortnight's holiday had just ended. As he entered the office on the Monday morning, his fellow-clerks rose to greet him; but he held up his hand for silence, and before anybody could say a word he distributed among them a number of neatly-printed little cards, reading thus:—

Thank you!
Yes, I had a splendid time.
Oh, walking fishing, golf and so forth.
Yes, had quite a lot of rain.
Hard to tear myself away? You bet. I ought to. I'm feeling fit as a fiddle.
And without a word he started in at his regular work.

Teeth Like Stars

John and Jeannie went for a walk one evening. After walking for some time in silence, John ventured to remark:—
Jeannie, your eyes are like diamonds.
Jeannie—Is that so, John? (Pause).
John—Jeannie your neck is like a swan's.
Jeannie—Is that so, John?
John—Jeannie your teeth are like the stars.
Jeannie—How do you make that out, John? I can quite understand my neck being like a swan's and my eyes like diamonds, but how do you make out my teeth are like the stars?
John—Why, Jeannie, it's just because they come out at night.

Backache Means Your Kidneys Want Help!

The kidneys are among the most important organs. They are most subject to periods of depression, impotency, action and lowered vitality. Invariably, they give warning, in the form of backache, headache, pains in the joints, etc. Wise people, careful of their health, act quickly when any of these symptoms appear. Careless or easy-going persons often permit a slight affection of the kidneys to grow into acute or chronic kidney trouble, ignoring the plainly-given warning of unhealthy kidneys. Prompt help is given inactive kidneys by DR. CLARK'S SWEET NITRE PILLS. They cleanse, tone, stimulate and restore the kidneys to normal vigor in quick time. Sold everywhere at fifty cents a box or mailed direct by $4.

Suppose, Bessie, (the teacher was trying to explain the meaning of recuperate) suppose your papa has worked very hard all day; he is tired and worn out, isn't he?

Yes, madam.
Then when night comes, and his work is over for the day, what does he do?

Interviewed

A reporter was once interviewing a famous English international footballer, and asked him how he liked being a professional footballer.

Impassively, he replied.
Ay, but well enough to bring your children up to it, said the reporter.
No, he replied, not well enough for that.
But why? asked the reporter.
Because they're lasses, said he with loud laughter.
The reporter collapsed.

Giles, said De Whizz to his chauffeur before he started on his motor run, have you oiled the machine thoroughly? Yes, sir; I have filled the spring cups and the engine reservoir, and I have greased the cornet-piston and the plumb line, the exhaust pipe, the muffled tread, the thingum-bob, the rimamajig, and both the hot boxes. Are those all the parts you have oiled Giles? Yes, sir. You have forgotten the most important place of all. THE CROP ESTIMATE

SEPTEMBER RAINS WERE THE CAUSE OF SOME DAMAGE

A Little Early Yet for Final Estimates on Total Extent of Crop, but the Average Yield is Expected to be Higher Than Last Year. Little Damage From Frost.

Ottawa.—A bulletin issued by the census and statistics office covers the crop condition in Canada for the month ended September 30. It states that during this month wet weather continued to prevail over most parts of Canada, especially over the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba. At Sept. 30, large areas of grain both in the east and in the west were still either uncut or were exposed to the wet in stock. Much damage has been caused by sprouting and in the north-west provinces second growth has in numerous instances caused uneven ripening and consequent lowering of grade. Frost during September in these provinces did some damage, but as a rule only late crops including flax, were seriously affected. In parts of Southern Ontario the ground is so wet that many farmers have abandoned the sowing of the fall wheat for next year.

The estimates of the yield published a month ago could only be regarded as of preliminary value, because in consequence of the bad weather and late seasons harvesting operations had made so little progress.

The new estimates of yield obtained from correspondents at the end of September confirm generally the previous estimates for most of the crops, but inasmuch as very little threshing had been possible and large areas of the grain were still unharvested, it is feared that the final estimates after completion of the threshing, may turn out lower than the figures now given. For spring wheat the estimated production is 188,816,600 bushels, as compared with 139,904,600 bushels last year.

For fall wheat the estimate is 16,868,700 bushels, compared with 26,014,000 bushels last year, the total estimated wheat production being therefore 205,685,300 bushels as compared with 215,918,600 bushels in 1911 a decrease of five per cent. The yield per acre is 21.08 bushels for all wheat as against 20.77 bushels last year.

Oats show a total production of 381,502,000 bushels, compared with 348,585,600 bushels last year, the yield per acre being 41.39 bushels, compared with 37.75. Barley is estimated to yield a total of 400,395,100 bushels compared with 400,631,000 bushels last year; the yield per acre 31.00 bushels against 28.94. The total production of rye is 3,086,000 bushels against 2,688,800 bushels in 1911, the yields per acre being respectively 20.75 and 17.41 bushels of oats, barley and rye. Increases in total production as compared with last year represent percentages of 9, 8 and 15.

FATHER VAUGHAN IN WEST

Noted Cleric Gives Utterances to Characteristic Advice

Moore Jaw.—The Rev. Father Bernard Vaughan, S.J., was in Moore Jaw recently and interviewed on his impressions of the west, said:—

"To my way of thinking there never was a land more ready to give a living wage to anyone who is ready to give in exchange an honest day's work. My advice to Old Countrymen coming out here in the future will be: Leave your eye-glasses at home, and your knickerbockers and your hypercriticalism and your superiority, put on a pair of overalls, pull off your coat roll up your sleeves and put your back into your work till you are through with it. Then instead of being all in, down and out, you will come out on top and will become a useful member of an enterprising community, and not at all a bad advertisement for the Old Country."

Mounted Men Underpaid

Ottawa.—Demands from new settlements throughout Western Canada for detachments of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police become more insistent as western development proceeds and the demand exceeds the supply. The force at present consists of 656 officers and men, which is forty-four below the strength, the full strength being 700. Despite an average recruiting of 15 men a month the club is sorely able to hold its own on account of the unavoidable waste from dismissals, deaths, term expirations, etc.

It is stated that a considerable number of men have been recruited in the old country recently but that a large proportion did not come up to the requirements. The rate of pay in the R.N.W.M.P. in comparison to wages in the west is said to be too low to attract recruits.

Welland Canal Enlargement

Ottawa.—The Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals has returned from a tour if inspection over the Welland Canal.

While it is well known that the Government intends to hasten the construction of this work, it is realized that owing to a lack of information which is necessary for specifications it will be impossible to let any contracts until next spring.

Engineers are now at work, however, taking bearings and securing the required information.

Next year will see the commencement of the actual construction work, there is every reason to believe.

Crow's Nest Miners Threaten to Strike

Calgary, Alta.—Failing to get their claims for yardage submitted for arbitration, the miners in the employ of the Crow's Nest Coal company, numbering 2,000, have practically declared they will continue negotiations no longer, but will go on strike. Notice to this effect has been served on the company and the miners claim ignored by the company. The president of the union has issued the statutory notice to strike, and a board on industrial disputes has been asked for in an application to the minister of labor.

CHRISTIANIZE THE ESQUIMAUX

Anglican Clergy Won't be Influenced by Stefanon's Views

Montreal.—Great enthusiasm was aroused at a meeting of the Board of Management of the Anglican church in Canada by speeches of Bishop Stringer of the Yukon and Rev. C. E. Whitaker of Mackenzie River in regard to the much talked of tribe of Montee Esquimaux recently discovered in the Coppermine river and Coronation Gulf districts, within the Arctic circle.

Doubt has been cast upon the evidence of the existence of this tribe, but proofs of the most convincing character were laid before the meeting by the bishop and his colleague, including an actual photograph of some of the very people concerning which much discussion has recently arisen, thus confirming the statements of Mr. Stefanon of the tribe.

Referring to the alleged recommendation of Mr. Stefanon that all influences of civilization, including Christian ministrations, be kept away from these people the bishop told of the marvelous transformation of character that has followed the missionaries' work among other tribes of Esquimaux.

A very few years ago they were given up to thieving, licentiousness, murder, polygamy and infanticide.

Now they are living lives that would be creditable to any Christian congregation.

Bishop Stringer stated that he was satisfied that many of the statements accorded to Mr. Stefanon in the press did not emanate from him. He also declared that at the present time one of his clergy, Rev. W. H. Fyfe, accompanied by twelve Christian Esquimaux from Mackenzie Delta, are on their way to the Coppermine district and the natives are all traveling at their own cost.

Conference on Grain Situation

Ottawa.—Arrangements were made recently for a conference between the Railway Commission, the Grain Commission and representatives of Western railway lines to be held in Winnipeg to settle the question of railway facilities for the sample market, which is to be established in the Manitoba capital in connection with the grain situation.

Prof. Magill, chairman of the Grain Commission, was in Ottawa today and completed arrangements for the conference. The date is not yet fixed but will probably be the latter part of November, when the Railway Commission has completed the adjourned sitting of the freight rate inquiry. At the same time the board will hold a number of sessions in the West.

Prof. Magill also took up with the Trade and Commerce Department a number of questions with a view to facilitating the rapid movement of the crop.

He reports that grain is moving rapidly and is of a high grade. They are hopeful that there will not be a blockade, and he reports that the railways are doing everything possible to handle the enormous crop which is pouring into Fort William and Port Arthur.

Work on the new Government owned elevator is being rushed as rapidly as possible, and it will be ready in time to help handle the crop of 1913.

Heart Rending Suffering

London.—Considerable bodies of Serbian troops have been sent across the Bulgarian border to join the Bulgarian army, says a despatch from Nisch.

Describing the terrible condition of the hospital at Tush, a Podgoritz correspondent says that a hundred wounded Turks are lying around half naked, awaiting treatment. The floors are covered with putrid medical dressings. The Turkish doctors are apathetic, doing nothing.

The Celtic correspondent of the Daily Mail tells of crying need for first aid societies. He says the hospital arrangements at Podgoritz are very bad. There is no proper sanitation and operations are performed in the crudest manner after days of delay with no preliminary dressing.

It is thought probably that the fighting will cease for a few days, the southern army having suffered heavily. A constant stream of wounded adds the correspondent, has arrived in the last three days, which proves the struggle to have been desperate and costly. The official figures of 1,000 killed and wounded probably is an under-estimate.

AIRMEN SAVED BY HELMET

Falls Sixty Feet and Lands on His Head, only Slightly Shaken

London.—Cyril Foggia, a pupil at the Eastbourne Aerodrome, had a remarkable escape from death yesterday.

He fell with his machine from a height of sixty feet, and escaped with nothing worse than a shaking. He owes his life undoubtedly to his safety helmet.

Mr. Foggia was flying well in a light monoplane when the machine side-slipped and fell. It was completely wrecked, and the spectators rushed forward expecting to find the airman dead. He was not even stunned, and only complained of a slight headache.

Mr. Foggia said afterward that he pitched forward and his head struck the front of the machine. The helmet which he was wearing was deeply dented.

The airman attributes the accident to his unfamiliarity with the type of machine.

Whale as Pilot

Edinburgh.—Seafaring men on the fifth of Fortia are greatly interested in a whale, about 10 feet long, which has taken up its quarters in the upper reaches. When an approaching ship sounds its siren the whale proceeds down the Firth, swims round it, and finally precedes it until its destination is reached.

London.—Captain A. C. Weigall, M.P. for the Hove and Horsham division of Lincolnshire, has been making a tour of the constituency on horseback.

SESSION IN JANUARY

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT MAY BE DEFERRED

The Rumor is Current That the House Will not Meet Until January, and Report That Hon. F. D. Monk Will Resign Before the House Meets is Again Revived.

Ottawa.—A meeting of the cabinet council was held recently and when it was over it was stated that the date for the assembling of parliament had not yet been fixed. Delay in the announcement has led to the revival of the rumor that the house will not meet until January. It is probable, however, that no definite decision has yet been announced. The report that Hon. F. D. Monk will resign before the house meets has been revived. The report naturally is connected with the consideration of the naval question, it being asserted in home quarters that the minister of public works desires to have the proposal to grant an emergency contribution to the Imperial Exchequer submitted to a plebiscite of the Canadian people.

It is stated that the proposal which Premier Borden will submit to his cabinet is the immediate contribution of thirty million dollars and the repeal of the Laurier naval act. This will constitute the temporary policy of the government, the permanent policy to be brought down a year later. Whatever truth there may be in the report that Mr. Monk may retire would appear that there is something under the surface that is delaying the announcement of the date of the opening of parliament.

In both political and official circles the impression is gradually growing stronger that there is at least an even chance that parliament will not convene till January. A decision to defer the opening until a later date will be pleasing to the majority of western and maritime members, many of whom have within the past couple of months expressed the desire that there should be no November session with a long recess over Christmas and New Years, which makes it necessary for them either to take a long trip to their homes or remain in Ottawa with nothing to do for a period of three weeks.

The Doom of the Turk

By THEODORE H. BOICE

NOW the turkey's days are numbered, and he won't have long to wait. For the proclamation's issued fixing our Thanksgiving date.

At the end of this October there will be a royal feast, And we'll hear a cry for turkey from the highest to the least.

There'll be pumpkin pie and fixin's down each eager throat to taste, There'll be many palate ticklers and the turkeyberry sauce, And there'll be a lot of dinin's some will feel inclined to shirk, But not one of all the eaters will decline a slice of turk.

There'll be children, mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, With the turkey on the table as the object that enchants, And if they are still as hungry as on feasting days before They'll not stop at the good serving, but will pass their plates for more.

There'll be trouble for the carver, though he tries to do his best, When too many call for drumsticks and too many want the breast; There'll be frequent calls for "turkey" in the most persuasive tones, And before the feast is ended there'll be nothing left but bones.

So get ready, Mister Gobbler, and get ready, Mistress Hen, For Thanksgiving day is coming, and you'll see your finish then. Now, at last, your days are numbered, and you won't have long to wait, At the end of this October you'll be smoking on the plate.

Commissioner Withdrawn

Ottawa.—The department of trade and commerce has decided to withdraw A. W. Donley, its trade commissioner in Mexico, and for the present at least no successor will be appointed.

Lack of business between the Dominion and Mexico is given as the reason for the withdrawal. It is stated that the continual disturbances in Mexico and the additional fact that the Mexican steamship line formerly plying between Vancouver and Mexico and subsidized by Canada, has been withdrawn, have been responsible for the dropping off in Canadian trade.

Mr. Donley, who is a Simcoe man, has held the position as commissioner for the past 10 years. For the present at least the interests of Canadians in Mexico will be looked after by the British consul.

GOLD FOR PASSERSBY

Old Man on Paris Street Asks Them to Help Themselves

Paris.—An old man in the Boulevard de Bonne Nouvelle yesterday approached passersby with a handful of gold and silver, and begged them to help themselves.

The money is for the poor, he said; take what you want. The persons thus addressed did not wait to be asked twice, and soon the old man had distributed some $100.

He would have continued his distribution but for the arrival of a policeman who asked the old man to follow him to the police station. There it was found that he was a rich proprietor at Chaumont-en-Vexin and a harmless lunatic.

Medicine Hat Population

Medicine Hat.—As a result of the police census it is announced that Medicine Hat has a population of over 11,000, being a gain of six thousand within the last twelve months.

Paris.—The battleship Paris, the third French ship of the Dreadnought type, will be launched at Toulon today after being only ten months on the stocks.

London.—Cries from a cat aroused the landlord of the George Inn, at Newington, Sittingbourne, to find that the house was on fire. The occupants barely escaped with their lives.

HARVEST HANDS NEEDED

Farmers Believe Vast Crop Will be Gathered by End of October

Winnipeg.—Harvesters are coming in, said J. Bruce Walker, but not in as large numbers as I would like to see. Saskatchewan is very much in need of men, and at Saskatoon the farmers are paying as high as $4.50 and $4.75 per day. It seems that in every point in Manitoba farmers are short of men, and are offering a uniform price of $3.00 per day. At Virden 100 men are needed, and a loud hue and cry comes from Morien, Manitow, Pilot Mound, Killarney, Dolomite, Carman, Elm Creek and Treherne.

The rate of one cent a mile in Manitoba will be in effect until the end of October, and the one-half cent rate will be effective to points further west until the 25th. Even the small number that have responded to the call will help to solve the vexing question of the gathering of the grains before the frost comes, and with continued dry spell the farmers are quite sure that there will be very little left of the vast crop by the end of October.

In the agricultural districts around Saskatoon the demand for help is greatest. At this point as high as $4.75 a day has been offered and yet the farmers declare they cannot get sufficient men.

Men, Women and Children Struggle in Big Flood

Rome.—A waterspout passed through Castellamare, on the southern coast of Sicily, yesterday evening devastating the town in a few minutes.

The streets were covered with water to a depth of four feet. Houses collapsed, and the open spaces were filled with men, women and children struggling in the flood. Some of them were drowned and others rescued, with difficulty. A number of persons lost their lives through being buried in debris.

Troops were sent from Trapani to assist in restoring order and providing shelter for the survivors.

The exceptionally dry weather in northern Italy has been followed by numerous forest fires. An area comprising nearly 100 square miles is reported to be in flames near Savona.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 9.—A stimulating influence has come into the grain situation since a week ago in the actual outbreak of hostilities between the Balkan states and Turkey, and the fear that this action may precipitate a general European conflict.

The latter event would be a calamity too terrible to contemplate, and in face of it, what the markets might do would be of comparatively little consequence to most of us. It is to be hoped that if the conflict cannot be stopped through the friendly intervention of the great powers working harmoniously together it may be confined to the Balkan peninsula and the combatants immediately concerned. If the conflict remains within these bounds its influence on the grain markets would likely be little more than the spurt it has helped to give to prices in the last few days. Since this day week the United States markets have advanced 1½¢ to 2½¢, the largest advance being in Chicago December wheat. In our Winnipeg market the advance has been 3½¢ on the October delivery and 2¢ on the other months. The very large movement of wheat in the United States during the past two months has not resulted in the big accumulation of visible supplies that has been looked for. Since the 1st of July to date the primary receipts of wheat in the U.S. have been 109,365,000 bus., compared to 76,961,000 bus. in the same period last year, an increase this year of 32,404,000 bus. and yet in that time the U.S. visible has increased only 9,280,000 bus. while last year in the same time there was an increase of 32,836,000 bus. There have no doubt been many holes for the new crop to fill up, and there has been an unusually good flour demand in the U.S. in the last two months, which has caused the milling demand to be large and there has been an export demand beyond what was expected, which has been partly, at least, caused by the great delay in western European wheat getting to the miller, owing to the very unfavorable harvest time. Thus the big movement of the U.S. new crop has gone elsewhere than to the visible supply, but the well known large size of the crop, together with the promised abundance of our western Canadian crop, caused speculative operators in the U.S. markets to keep on selling for future delivery even after prices had declined freely, with the consequence that the market has been heavily oversold. The gradual recognition of the fact that the visible supply was not increasing commensurately with the large wheat movement and the war development is coming to a head at the same time, have arrested the bearish sentiment in the markets and given an upward turn to prices. Whether the strength thus imparted to the trade will become permanent and continue to advance prices is uncertain because while there have come certain changes into the situation, these do not change the fact that the United States, Canada and Russia have been unusually large crops of wheat of average good quality, and that they have only yet made a beginning of disposing of their surplus to the export market. The delay in these large crops pressing on the world's markets has been caused principally by the delay through unfavorable weather in the finishing of harvesting and the progress of threshing in the U.S. and western Canada's spring wheat area. The weather over this part of the world has been more favorable during the past two weeks than previously, although in the last four days it had been partly, though not seriously unsettled, and the work of threshing and hauling the grain to the country depots has progressed, and railway movement shows a large increase. In the last five days there have been 4342 cars of wheat inspected at Winnipeg; in the same five days last year the number was 2776 cars. The average quality continues high, and the percentage of tough or no grade cars is on the decline. Today the United States Agricultural Dept. issued their October report, giving among other information, the estimated yield per acre of the U.S. spring wheat crop. The yield is put at 17.2 bus., giving a total yield of 330,390,000 bus. against 300,000,000 bus. at September 1st. The winter wheat crop, estimated on Aug. 1st, was 389,942,000 bus., so that the total U.S. wheat crop is estimated at this date as 720,332,000 bus. against the final estimate of 621,338,000 bus. for the crop of 1911. Last week the U.S. visible supply increased 1,025,000 bus. against an increase last year of 3,989,000 bus. and the aggregate now is 32,633,000 bus. against 56,698,000 bus. a year ago. The European visible increased 5,020,000 bus. compared with a decrease last year of 700,000 bus. and the total is now 77,988,000 bus. Last year the total was 82,400,000 bus. The world's available supply of breadstuffs according to Bradstreet's, increased last week 10,936,000 bus. compared with the increase of 5,753,000 bus. a year ago. The world's shipments last week from exporting to importing countries were 14,688,000 bus. against the 11,024,000 bus. a year ago, and the aggregate amount of wheat on ocean passage is now 56,888,000 bus. against 32,064,000 bus. a year ago. These statistics, with perhaps the exception of the U.S. visible supply statement, can be taken as very bearish and should be the result of the general world's movement of wheat during the next few weeks be on the same lines, the probability is that whatever views as to prices speculative buyers may develop, (the commercial value of wheat for this season is somewhere around the level of present prices. Along with ample supplies of wheat actually on hand or about to come on the markets, we must keep in view the new crops now growing. The Argentine and Australian crops are growing well under favorable conditions but their critical periods are during the next six or eight weeks, and two months the earliest districts will be harvesting. The crop outlook in India is favorable, and the seeding of the new winter wheat in the U.S. is well advanced under favorable conditions.

On Winnipeg market has had quite a spurt through the war scare and apprehension of another spell of unsettled weather coming to further delay movement. October is beginning to slip along and October shorts have been getting very uneasy. Shippers and exporters have a great deal of vessel space engaged to load at the lake ports during this month, and all the wheat is needed. This has caused our market to be stronger than the U.S. markets, in face of a large increase in wheat receipts. The shorts have really been the means of advancing the prices through their efforts to cover their short sales, and a good deal of trade has been evened up in this way and the short interest lessened, and unless further strength comes from outside, today's prices are likely to ease down again. Today's cash prices are 1 Nor., 92½¢; 2 Nor., 90½¢; 3 Nor., 88½¢; No. 4 wheat, 82½¢; Tough wheat is 6¢ under straight grade. Alberta Red Winter No. 1, 91¢; A.R. No. 2, 90¢; A.R. No. 3, 88¢. Futures closed October 92¢; Nov., 90½¢; Dec., 87½¢; May, 92½¢.

Oats.—The oat market continues firm with good demand, owing to scarcity. The new crop oats will be late in coming along freely and short in October oats are liable to be squeezed. The stock of 2 C.W. oats at Fort William and Port Arthur is only 29,711 bus. against 298,294 bus. last year. Today's cash prices are 2 C.W., 42¢; 3 C.W., 39¢; Ex. 1 Fd., 41¢; 1 Fd., 39¢; 2 Fd., 37¢. Futures closed Oct. 40½¢; Nov. 36½¢; Dec., 35½¢.

Barley.—Receipts of barley are fairly large and demand is good. Prices are No. 3, 56¢; No. 4, 50¢; Rejected, 45¢; Feed, 45¢.

Flax.—Receipts of flax are also liberal and the quality very satisfactory. The demand is only fair and the price tends to ease off some. Today's cash prices are 1 N.W. Canadian, 152¢; 2 Can. Western, 148¢; Rejected, 130¢. Futures closed Oct., 150¢; Nov., 148¢; Dec., 139½¢.

Prices are basis delivery in store Fort William, Port Arthur and Duluth.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON IV.—FOURTH QUARTER FOR OCTOBER 27, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Mark vii, 31 to viii, 10—Memory Verses, 34, 35—Golden Text Mark vii, 37—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Departing from the region of Tyre and Sidon, where He had comforted the mother's heart and honored and commended her faith, He returned to the sea of Galilee, a journey of forty or fifty miles, but nothing is said of the journey. How little we think of His long walks from one part of the country to another. It is easy to travel in our day, and there is a vast amount of it done, but very few do it as Jesus did. He was a missionary, and for Him, yet I do know some missionaries who are very like Him in this respect. Verses 22 to 37 of our lesson are recorded only by Mark and tell of the healing of a deaf and dumb man. Some are dumb because they cannot speak and others are dumb because they will not speak.

It is sometimes wise for those who can both hear and speak to be as if they were both deaf and dumb (Ps. xxxviii, 13). Too many are dumb because they do not feel constrained to speak. Their remedy may be found in Ps. xxxix, 3; Ezek. iii, 27; Jer. xx, 9. If any are inclined to plead slowness of speech or the inefficiency of youth they be helped by Ex. iv, 12, Jer. i, 7-9. All need that which our Lord commended in Acts iv, 31. All may come unto Him, and He knows at once a right way for each. His way with this particular man was unique, but it must have been the right way for him. He took him aside from the multitude. He often takes us aside that He may cause us to hear or see or know something He could not otherwise teach us. It is blessed to be taken aside with Him. I like the verse which says that we should live together with Him (1 Thess. v, 10). We have heard of many being healed by touching Him, or the hem of His garment, but see His finger on this man's ears and tongue, and instantly he could hear and speak plainly.

Was the power in His touch or in the words "Be opened," or in both? More important for me to be able to say that He hath touched me and hath spoken to me, and taught me to say "He hath done all things well."

Just here Matthew records that He went up into a mountain and sat down and great multitudes came to Him bringing the lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and others and cast them at His feet, and He healed them, and they glorified the God of Israel (Matt. xv, 30, 31). When Israel came out of Egypt there was not one feeble among their tribes and when the kingdom comes the inhabitant shall not say, "I am sick." There shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain. They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them nor any heat. (Ps. cv, 37; Isa. xxxiii, 24; xlii, 10; Rev. vii, 16; xxi, 4). Do you wonder that Jesus told them of such a kingdom as He fed them and healed them. What can we think of those who know of such a kingdom and are doing nothing to make it known to others who might be glad to become inheritors of it if they only knew about it and knew how to become heirs to it?

Returning to the record in Mark, we read that the multitudes had been with Him three days with nothing to eat, and some had come long distances so He had compassion upon them and said to the disciples, "If I send them away fasting they will faint by the way." Did He really care and does He care if we are faint and weary? Oh, yes, He cares; I know He cares. It matters to Him even about sparrow, and He clothes the lilies. The disciples seem surprised at His remarks and ask: Whence can a man satisfy these with bread here in the wilderness? Well, that depends upon the man. An ordinary man could not, but who is this man? Had he forgotten that so recently they had taken food from His hands to more than 5,000 people and had seen Him control and subdue a great storm? Yes, it is the old story of Ps. lxxviii: "They forgot His works and His wonders that He had shewed them. They said: Can God furnish a table in the wilderness?" Having ascertained that they had seven loaves and a few small fishes, He took them and gave thanks and broke them and gave to the disciples to set before the people and they did all eat and were filled.

He took what they had and used it as on the former occasion, though He might have rained it from Heaven (Ps. lxxviii, 24). The poor widow had a pot of oil, and He multiplied that. Another widow had a little meal and oil and He multiplied that. He can create out of nothing, but He seems to love to take what we have and increase it. He wants it all given over to Him, as these and the lad gave all into His hands, as He Himself gave up all for us. He has provided a full and complete eternal redemption which He freely gives to every one willing to receive Him. Then He asks those who have received Him, and to whom He has given all, to forsake all that they have that they may become His disciples (Rom. vi, 23; John i, 12; Luke xiv, 33). To be used by Him as He will. He is all fullness, the fullness of the Godhead bodily, and we may be filled by Him for the benefit of others (Col. i, 19; ii, 9, 10).

Civil Service Reforms

There are a large number of these mechanics in the Government's employ, and these are classed as laborers.

BOWSER'S TREE.

He Takes a Short Course in Genealogy.

LOOKS UP OTHER BOWSERS.

But He Is Unable to Bridge the Gaps Between Moses and Elijah and Aaron and Nicodemus—He Meets Some Highly Objectionable Contemporaries.

By M. QUAD.
[Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.]

M. BOWSER was nervous and edgy.

He sat down as he stood up. Then he walked to and fro. He finally remarked that he had to go out for an hour or so.

"Is it business that calls you?" queried Mrs. Bowser, although she knew it wasn't.

"Yes, something in that line. You know I have been anxious for several years to complete my family record. I can trace the Bowsers back 400 years. There's a skip between Moses and Elijah Bowser and another between Aaron and Nicodemus. I have been trying to fill in the gaps, and I think I have got hold of the right string at last."

"Have you found some old records?" "I have found that there are two other Bowser families in town, and I'm hopeful that they will have the records I want. I shall be delighted if they have."

"I don't exactly see why you should care about any Bowser 200 years old," said Mrs. Bowser.

"But I do care a great deal. It makes quite a difference whether your ancestors were ditch diggers or kings, or, at least, it does to me. As for you, of course you don't care a pin. You were a Tompkins family, from No. 1 down, and none ever amounted to anything great."

"But the Bowsers have?" "Well, the family tree, as far as completed, shows princes, dukes, barons, lords and statesmen among them."

A Decadent Sketch.

Then the family must be on the decline?"

"Woman, what do you mean by that?" shouted Mr. Bowser as his hair began to crackle. "Do you mean to insinuate that I am an unworthy descendant of the name?"

"Not at all," she quietly replied, "only there doesn't seem to be any more princes and dukes around. If I were you I'd let it all go."

"I shall do nothing of the kind. I may not be a prince or a duke, but that I bear the name of Bowser is enough. As this matter is of no earthly interest to you and as old Tompkins was probably hanged for murder, you need not sit up for me."

The cat attempted to follow him out, but he thrust her back and walked swiftly away. There was a Bowser family living six blocks away. It was in a tenement house, and there were five flights of stairs to climb. Mr. Bowser found the other Bowser with a pipe in his mouth and his feet on the stove.

"What's the matter with you?" asked Mr. Bowser, who was sitting on the floor. A solar plexus blow had put him to sleep, and he would search for the men between Moses and Elijah and between Aaron and Nicodemus no more.

Mrs. Bowser was in no hurry to come down. She waited all of ten minutes, and then she found Mr. Bowser sitting up with his back to the wall.

"Genealogy is a very interesting study," she remarked as she looked down on him.

Mr. Bowser didn't say yes or no. "Lots of Bowsers in genealogy."

No reply.

"There are five that we know of—your and the four who were here. There may be half a dozen others before the evening is over."

Mr. Bowser rubbed the stomach which had received the fatal blow.

Two dukes and two lords already, eh?"

"Woman!"

"Certainly, Count Bowser!"

"G'way from me!"

"For sure, me lord! If the other Bowsers come along be good to them. An avowal, your highness!"

She went back upstairs and to bed, and Mr. Bowser's coming up, hours after, did not awaken her.

Information Pours In.

Mr. Bowser got out. There was another to call on, but he was out. He lived over a saloon, and Mr. Bowser had a little talk with the saloon keeper and then returned home. Mrs. Bowser was reading and the cat asleep, and he was not questioned as he got out his family tree to look it over. Not five minutes had passed, however, when the bell rang and the door was opened to a man who gave the name of Bowser and added:

"Well, what's wanted?"

"I was seeking to trace the Bowser family back," replied Mr. Bowser.

"Then maybe I can help you, sir, as I have lots of papers."

"What I want to find out first is who came between Moses and Elijah?"

Then the family must be on the decline?"

"Woman, what do you mean by that?"

"Do you mean to insinuate that I am an unworthy descendant of the name?"

"Not at all," she quietly replied, "only there doesn't seem to be any more princes and dukes around. If I were you I'd let it all go."

"I shall do nothing of the kind. I may not be a prince or a duke, but that I bear the name of Bowser is enough. As this matter is of no earthly interest to you and as old Tompkins was probably hanged for murder, you need not sit up for me."

The cat attempted to follow him out, but he thrust her back and walked swiftly away. There was a Bowser family living six blocks away. It was in a tenement house, and there were five flights of stairs to climb. Mr. Bowser found the other Bowser with a pipe in his mouth and his feet on the stove.

"What's the matter with you?" asked Mr. Bowser, who was sitting on the floor. A solar plexus blow had put him to sleep, and he would search for the men between Moses and Elijah and between Aaron and Nicodemus no more.

Mrs. Bowser was in no hurry to come down. She waited all of ten minutes, and then she found Mr. Bowser sitting up with his back to the wall.

"Genealogy is a very interesting study," she remarked as she looked down on him.

Mr. Bowser didn't say yes or no. "Lots of Bowsers in genealogy."

No reply.

"There are five that we know of—your and the four who were here. There may be half a dozen others before the evening is over."

Mr. Bowser rubbed the stomach which had received the fatal blow.

Two dukes and two lords already, eh?"

"Woman!"

"Certainly, Count Bowser!"

"G'way from me!"

"For sure, me lord! If the other Bowsers come along be good to them. An avowal, your highness!"

She went back upstairs and to bed, and Mr. Bowser's coming up, hours after, did not awaken her.

Adopted the Cash System

Vulcan Business Men's Association.

At a meeting of the above Association, composed of all the business men of Vulcan, it was decided that on and after November 1st, 1912, the credit system should be limited strictly to 30 days.

Wherever this system has been put into practice it has proved a complete success. The merchant does away with a great deal of unnecessary work and the consumer benefits by the reduced prices of goods, which make it worth while paying cash. The credit system means a great expense and this expense has to be borne by the consumer very largely, so that under the cash system he will effect a great saving.

THE ART OF MILKING.

Gentleness With Dairy Cows Pays.
Strip the Udder Clean.

Milking is generally considered such a simple operation that any common laborer is supposed to be able to milk. There is, however, an immense difference in milkers. One milker may be able to get 20 per cent more milk than another.

The milker should not be allowed to excite or worry the cow by loud talking or abuse of any kind. A cow should be milked quietly and quickly. As she is largely a creature of habit, special care should be taken to get all the strippings. The first milk drawn may contain as little as 1 per cent of fat, while the last runs from 6 to 10 per cent.

In milking the whole hand should be used, closing first that part next to the udder. Then the milk is forced past the sphincter muscle by closing the remainder of the hand. The cow's teats should always be dry when milking. Wetting the teats is not only a dirty, filthy habit, but it also allows the teats to chap and become sore in bad weather. If there is difficulty in milking a cow dry a small amount of vaseline may be rubbed on the hands. It is beneficial rather than harmful both in a sanitary way and in its effects on the teats.

The future of many a promising dairy cow has been ruined by improper milking soon after calving. The dairy

The Dexter breed of dairy cattle is of Irish origin. It has been by some assumed to be a cross of the Kerry and Devon or Shorthorn, but there is no definite information on this point. The Dexter is more compact and blocky than the Kerry, is somewhat lower set and is usually black or red. The Dexter is one of the smaller breeds of cattle and at maturity may not stand over thirty-six inches high. Mature Kerry cows weigh from 500 to 600 pounds very often and bulls 600 to 1,000 pounds. The Dexters weigh considerably less. The Dexter bull shown here is owned by Howard Gould.

cow has been abnormally developed to produce large quantities of milk, consequently certain of her organs, such as the mammary glands, have become greatly enlarged and weakened just before and after parturition, due probably to the secreting of large quantities of milk.

The art, or science, whichever we may call it, of milking can only be attained by those who are willing to make a study of each individual cow, of her disposition, dairy temperament and physical condition. First, as to the care of the cow previous to parturition. She should not receive much grain, but just enough bran mash to keep her slightly laxative. No succulent feed should be fed, as it stimulates milk secretion.

After calving the calf should be allowed to take the first milk, and when it has had all it will take, finish the milking with the calf still near. If the udder is hard and caked, a good massage with the palm of the hand with or without (lard, or better, with camphorated ointment, will relieve almost any congested condition. The breaking up of the udder may be greatly hastened by the sucking of a hungry calf because of the kneading it gives the udder with its nose.

The most important things to keep in mind are: First, do not feed succulent feeds previous to parturition or for a few days afterward; second, milk the cow three times daily after the calf has taken the first milk; third, if the udder is in a congested condition, massage it and allow the calf to suck frequently the first day.—G. R. Stewart, Oregon Agricultural College.

HER GROWING GLORY

FAIR TRESSSES ADMIRER SINCE EARLIEST TIMES.

The Feminine Sex Has Always Realized the Charm Attached to Hair From the Egyptian Maiden to the Lady of the Twentieth Century—Girls, Wives and Widows Have Been Distinguished by Coiffures.

The Bible simply teems with allusions to the luxuriant tresses of the fair daughters of the East, and there is little doubt that at an early period in the world's history women awakened to the fact that a well-tended head was a very potent attraction, and had a recognized market value. Jewish women were particularly famed in this respect, and employed female barbers, who, with the aid of crisping-pins, horns, and towers, prepared their clients for conquest. These jeweled horns were generally made of the precious metals, and the position denoted the condition of the wearer.

A married woman had it fixed on the right side of the head, a widow on the left, and she who was still an unappropriated maiden on the crown. Over the horn the veil was thrown coquettishly. Assyrian women delighted in long ringlets confined by a band of metal, and the men were not above the weakness of plating gold wire with their beards.

Rimmel, in "The Book of Perfumes," relates a curious anecdote of Mausolus, King of Caria who turned his people's fondness for flowing locks to account when his exchequer required replenishing. "Having first had a quantity of wigs made and stored in the royal warehouses, he published an edict compelling all his subjects to have their heads shaved."

A few days after it, the monarch's agents went round, offering them the perukes destined to cover their denuded polls, which they were delighted to buy at any price. It is not surprising that Artemisia could not console herself for the loss of such a clever husband, and that she spent some of her lamented lord's ill-gotten revenues in building such a monument to his memory that it was counted one of the wonders of the world.

The Egyptians were also partial to wigs, some of which are still preserved in the British Museum. Ladies wore a multitude of small plaits and jeweled headpieces resembling peacocks, and other animals, which contrasted with their dark tresses with brilliant effect. The coiffure of a princess was remarkable for its size and the abundance of animal, vegetable, and mineral treasures with which it was adorned.

Grecian sculpture affords us the opportunity of studying the different modes in favor in that country, and it is astonishing to find what a variety of methods were adopted by the belles of ancient Greece for enhancing their charms. A loose knot fastened by a clasp in the form of a grasssopper was a favorite fashion. Curls of network, metal mitres of different designs, and simple braids, and sometimes chaplets of flowers, all confined at different periods, the luxuriant locks of the Helens, Penelopes, and Xantippes of ancient time.

It was a common custom among heathen nations to consecrate to their gods the hair when cut off, as well as that growing on the head, and it was either consumed on the altar, deposited in temples, or hung upon trees. A famous instance of the consecration of hair is that of Etebenice, the wife of Ptolemy Evergetes. It is related that when the King went on his expedition to Syria, she solicited for his safety, made a vow to consecrate her hair (which was remarkable for its fineness and beauty) to Venus if he returned to her.

When her husband came back, she kept her word, and offered her hair in the temple of Cyprus. Another remarkable instance is that of Nero, who, according to Suetonius, cut off his first beard, put it in a cake of gold set with jewels, and consecrated it to Jupiter Capitolinus.

The hair of the head and beard appear to have been held in great respect by most nations. Orientals especially treat the hair which falls from them with superstitious care, and bury it so that no one shall use it to their prejudice.

Roman matrons generally preferred blonde hair to their own color, and resorted to wigs and dye when nature, as they considered, had treated them unkindly. The Frisians, before they mixed with other nations, were a fair-haired race, and early writers refer to their washing their sunburnt tresses in water boiled with lime to increase the reddish color.

Boadicea is described with flowing locks which fell upon her shoulders; but after the Roman invasion the hair of both men and women in England followed the fashion of the conquerors.

During the middle ages feminine headgear underwent many changes. Golden nets and linen bands closely pinned round the hair and chin were followed by steeple-shaped erections and horned head-dresses in a variety of shapes and later became the coil or the French cap to be seen in the portraits of the unhappy Mary Stuart. Those who were unmarried had their hair simply braided and embellished with knots of ribbon, strings of pearls, or nature's most beautiful adornment for the maiden—sweet-scented flowers.

Dividing the Task.

Lottie—Oh, well, let's kiss and make up. Dottie—All right, dear, I'll do the kissing, but you've had more experience with the other part of the program.—Cleveland Leader.

Corroborative Evidence.

"Boh!" says the skeptic. "What proof can you give me that man is made of dust?" "Why, look at yourself," argues the other man. "You have a marble brow, an alabaster cheek, a mummy complexion and sandy hair."

The Secret Marriage

She had had a very severe shock, poor child, said that worthy gentleman. She was very attached to her sister, and she feels her death very deeply, particularly, of course, in the very shocking circumstances. I am afraid that it will be some considerable time before I can think of allowing her to get about again.

Easton nodded. Naturally the shock was terrible he said. I wish I could have spared her some of the suddenness of it, but I had no time. I had only just found the body myself, and I had no idea she was near at hand.

We must try to manage as best we can about the inquest, said Dr. Arnold. I do not think it will be absolutely necessary for her to attend. Her evidence, such as it is, can be taken down, I expect, and I hope they will get the business over as quietly as possible. There can be no doubt that the poor girl was suffocated by the escaping gas, and that it was an accident entirely. Poor young thing, she was a harum-scarum little madcap, and quite incapable of taking care of herself. I suppose she thought she had turned the tap off.

The Major looked at him for a moment. You don't imagine there could be any other possibility, he said at last, slowly.

Dr. Arnold started. Why, what other possibility could there be? he asked. You don't mean to suggest that she committed suicide, do you? so pretty, young, clever and full of spirits as she was; or that she was murdered?

Easton shook his head. That would not be possible, would it? he said, after a moment, feeling rather gaily.

Dr. Arnold brushed the new idea away with his firm, white hand.

Even if she had an enemy in the world, which she couldn't have had, who would murder her in such a way? The two sisters were in their flat alone. No, no, of course, the inquest which, by the way, I fear you will be bothered to attend, will be merely a matter of form and then we must get that young lady away into the country for a time. Poor thing, I am afraid she is not very well off, and that her life will be rather a lonely one in future.

Has she no relations, no friends to look after her? asked the Major, biting his lip slightly.

None at all, I think. Or, rather, none that she sees. Her father was, to tell the truth, a queer old fellow, and quarrelled with all his people, and the two girls, after his death, had to make their own way. No, I am afraid there are not many people to trouble about her. But she must find a young husband and marry, continued the old doctor, looking unconsciously, speculatively, at Easton.

The Major blushed suddenly. She—er—There is no one in view at the moment, I suppose? he asked quickly.

The doctor shook his head. She does not bother about men, he said. She is reserved, quiet, and thoughtful, for her age. No, her sister was more that style. She seemed to attract the men, though personally I think Miss Violet the more beautiful. She is young yet, though; she is young yet.

Easton walked down to his club after this interview, feeling, he was hardly able to tell why, more cheerful and relieved.

Eczema 25 Years Cured by "Cuticura"

Leg Like Raw Flesh from Knee Down

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My own doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first. He said, 'try them if you like but I do not think they will do any good.' At this time my leg was peeling from the knee down, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. After the first two treatments the swelling went down and in two months' use of the Cuticura Remedies my leg was cured and the new skin grown on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. But for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I am truly grateful for the wonderful cure that Cuticura wrought and I always recommend it most highly as pure and economical cure for skin troubles." (Signed) Mrs. J. B. Renaud, 277 Montana St., Montreal.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Ointment have afforded the speediest and most economical treatment for skin and scalp humors, sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book, send to Foster D. & O. Corp., 48 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

To Lure the Cat

I was coming home rather late from the theatre the other night says Robbing Goodfellow, and a quiet as I walked down beneath the trees in our modest suburban road. Then, quite suddenly, I came upon a romantic little scene in the front garden of one of the most respectable of the villas.

Beneath two tall trees a fire of sticks had been lighted, and over it bent the shivering forms of two young ladies in evening dress. I noticed to my surprise, that one of the ladies had a frying pan in her hands, and an appetizing smell of bacon rose into the air. I wondered whether those two products of city civilization were playing at the simple life; but the next day I found the incident had a more prosaic explanation.

The favorite Persian cat had been missed during the evening, and at length had been located in the upper boughs of one of the trees. All bandishments failed to persuade her to come down, and yet her owners refused to look her out for the night. At last they remembered that she would always make her way into the kitchen in the morning, and sit sniffing at the frizzling bacon, and they decided to fry some bacon at the bottom of the tree to attract her.

After half an hour over the fire the ruse succeeded at the cost of two bad colds.

None of His Business

A surgeon describes a remarkable case of a patient's confidence in his medical adviser.

When I was a student in London I had an Irish patient with a broken leg. When the plaster bandage was removed and a lighter one put in its place, I noticed that one of the pins went in with great difficulty, and I could not understand it. A week afterwards, on removing the pin I found it had stuck hard and fast and I was forced to remove it with the forceps. What was my astonishment in making an examination, to find that the pin had been run through the skin twice, instead of through the cloth.

Why Pat, said I, didn't you know that pin was sticking in you?

To be sure Oid, replied Pat. But I thought your honor knowed your business, so Oid hit me tongue.

The Son—Mother, I'm going to have a little sister some day, ain't I?

The Mother—Why do you want one?

The Son—Well, it gets kind of tire-some always teasing the cat.

Very Considerate

Well, said the superior person, that seems to be the general impression that prevails among the masses.

I'll have you understand, sir, that I am not one of the masses.

I know that, yawned the self-satisfied one, getting up. I preferred the "m" merely out of consideration for your feelings.

A DOCTOR'S TRIALS

He Sometimes Gets Sick Like Other People

Even doing good to people is hard work if you have too much of it to do.

An overworked doctor tell his experience:

"About three years ago as the result of doing two men's work, attending a large practice and looking after the details of another business, my health broke down completely, and I was little better than a physical wreck."

"I suffered from indigestion and constipation, loss of weight and appetite, bloating and pain after meals, loss of memory and lack of nerve force for continued mental application."

"I became irritable, easily angered and despondent without cause. The heart's action became irregular and weak, with frequent attacks of palpitation during the first hour or two after retiring."

"Some Grape-Nuts and cut bananas came for my lunch one day and pleased me particularly with the result. I got more satisfaction from it than from anything I had eaten for months, and on further investigation and use, adopted Grape-Nuts for my morning and evening meals, served usually with cream and a sprinkle of salt or sugar."

"My improvement was rapid and permanent, in weight as well as in physical and mental endurance. In a word, I am filled with the joy of living again, and continue the daily use of Grape-Nuts for breakfast and often for the evening meal."

"The little pamphlet, 'The Road to Wellville,' found in pkgs., is invariably saved and handed to some needy patient along with the indicated remedy."

"There's a reason."

Tommy—Can you eat nuts, grandma?

Grandma—Oh, dear, no. I haven't any teeth.

Tommy—Well look after these till I come back from school.

In Germany the cost of old age and infirmity pensions is borne by employers and work-people alike in equal shares, but the Imperial Government makes a uniform annual addition of $12 to every pension granted.

Considerate Judge

Judges were very considerate in the old days. Lord Hampton in his Reminiscences, relates a story illustrating this.

Baron Martin, a famous English jurist of the old school, whose native leniency and sense of fun often placed him at the mercy of the very men he was trying, was once about to sentence an old offender charged with a petty theft.

Look, said the Baron, with an assumption of severity; I hardly know what to do, but you can take six months.

I can't take that, my lord, it's too much, said the prisoner respectfully but firmly. I can't take it. Your lordship sees I didn't steal very much after all.

The Baron indulged in one of his low, chuckling laughs before replying.

Well, that's verri true; ye didn't steal much, he said. Well then, ye can tak' four months. Will that do—four months?

Nay, my lord, but I can't take that either, was the reply.

Then tak' three.

That's nearer the mark my lord, the prisoner said, approvingly. But I'd rather you made it two, if you will be so kind.

Verra well, 'hen, tak' two, said the judge with the air of one who is pleased to have done the right thing at last. And mind, don't come again. If ye do, I'll give ye—well, it all depends!

BABY'S BEST FRIEND

Baby's Own Tablets are baby's best friend and the mother's greatest aid. They cure constipation, simple fevers, break up colds, expel worms and regulate the stomach and bowels.

Concerning them Mrs. Napoleon Pelletier, St. Marcel, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and simple fever for both my little girl of three years and my boy of four months and have found them entirely satisfactory and always keep them in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Truly British

Perhaps few stories of battles so thoroughly illustrate the true British spirit and way of doing things as the little incident at a reconnaissance before the Battle of Ulundi, of which Lord William Beresford was the hero.

The British were almost led into a terrible trap, and discovered the danger only just in time. They turned to retreat, and the Zulus poured by a volley which brought down the grey attacks of a mounted infantryman. His rider fell head foremost. The rest thought both man and horse were killed at first, but the former soon struggled to his feet, with his face covered with blood and dazed with his fall.

Lord William Beresford, seeing what had happened, pulled up, and in the face of advancing hosts of yelling savages, with a easy range, quietly trotted back and told the man to mount behind him.

With a cool courage scarcely second to Lord William's the man refused, noble fellow that he was, preferring the certain sacrifice of his own life to the probability of destroying his preserver.

The reply was admirable, terse, and telling. The savages swarmed closer and closer, bullets rattled around them; the two who lingered were almost within reach of the assegais, and Lord William said:

Get up or I'll punch your head!

The man obeyed and rescuer and rescued escaped.

That's arrant nonsense, said Mr. Henpeck, about there always being room at the top.

Oh, his wife sarcastically replied, when were you up there to see?

No More Asthma. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy sounds the death knell of this trying trouble. It stops the awful choking and painful breathing. It guards against night attacks and gives renewed ability to sleep and rest the whole night long. Much is claimed for this remedy, but nothing but what can be demonstrated by a trial. If you suffer from asthma try it and convince yourself of its great value.

It was simply a question of veracity between us, said the oldest inhabitant. He said I was a liar, and I said he was one.

More About The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmer will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a load of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oft times to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now, however, the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform in shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmers' freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to ensure car shortage. This we know to be nonsense, because frequently after cars are loaded, whether with grain, coal, lumber, or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale, and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

My Kingdom

Down by the shining water well
I found a very little dell,
No higher than my head,
The heather and the gorse about
In summer bloom were coming out,
Some yellow and some red.

I called the little pool a sea;
The little hills were big to me;
I made a boat,
For I am very small.
I made a boat, I made a town,
I searched the caverns up and down,
And named them one and all,
And all about was mine, I said,
The little sparrows overhead,
The little minnows, too.

This was my world, and I was king,
For me the bees came by to sing,
For me the swallows flew.

I played there were no deeper seas,
Nor any wider plains than these,
Nor other kings than me.
At last I heard my mother call,
Out from the house at evenfall,
To call me home to tea.

And I must rise and leave my dell,
And leave my dimpled water well,
And leave my heather blooms,
Alas, and as my home I neared,
How very big my nurse appeared,
How great and cool the rooms!

SUCCESS OF WINNIPEG PERMANENT EXPOSITION

Industrial Bureau's Big Display of Industries and Natural Resources
Attracts Thousands

Community advertising has been adopted as generally throughout West-Canada, that the subject is one of general importance, and methods successfully carried to completion are of absorbing interest to many Western Canadians.

No other city on the American Continent has a finer or better equipped permanent exposition, featuring industries and the Natural Resources of the country, than has the city of Winnipeg. This big permanent and free exposition, conducted under the auspices of the Winnipeg Industrial Bureau, was started last Spring and during the past six months, Commissioner Chas. F. Roland estimates, has been visited by 700,000 people.

In addition to the fifty-four exhibitors of local industries, there are now 24 districts of the West, which have secured space and are advertising their communities in this exposition. The places represented at the present time in this handsome and conspicuous edifice on Main Street, are: Brandon, Man.; Portage la Prairie, Man.; Regina, Sask.; Saltcoats, Sask.; Dauphin, Man.;
Melfort, Sask.; Souris, Man.; Yorkton, Sask.; Melita, Man.;
Prince Albert, Sask.; Emerson, Man.;
Oak Lake, Man.; Camrose, Alta.;
Selkirk, Man.; Moose Jaw, Sask.;
Birtle, Man.; Lemberg, Sask.;
Virden, Man.; Lacombe, Alta.; Swan River Valley, Man.; Vermillion, Alberta; Swift Current, Sask.; Estevan, Sask.; and Battleford, Sask. In addition to these there are handsome and costly exhibits of the Natural Resources of the West, by the Dominion and Manitoba Provincial Governments and the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern railways.

With this splendid representation of farm, forest and mine of the Canadian West, arranged in attractive form in easily accessible and central position in the metropolis of the prairies, its value as a factor in the settlement of the country cannot well be overestimated, and so popular has the Exposition become as an adjunct to local methods of publicity, that the Industrial Bureau are now completing extensive additions to the floor space.
This will accommodate a number of exhibits of "Made in Winnipeg" goods and will provide another opportunity for a limited number of ambitious communities to secure space.

In Winnipeg, the gateway city of the West, all the year round will be found visitors from all parts of the World, in search of opportunity in the many attractive forms this land of promise presents. In the permanent exposition that city has exactly what it needed to arrest the immediate attention of the stranger. Indeed this "temple of opportunity" as it has been called, is usually one of the first places the sightseer visits in Winnipeg. Here the visitor may catch, almost at a glance, a good idea of the sort of city Winnipeg is, and what sort of country lies between the capital of Manitoba and the Rocky Mountains. Here he will obtain information, maps, photographs and actual products of the soil of the district in which he is interested, perhaps thousands of miles away. Specific information may be obtained on enquiry, and the railways represented will show how the district may be reached, or a tour of inspection conducted in, the best possible way. If such a visitor is interested along industrial lines he has before him ocular demonstrations of what is being done locally and will be told of opportunities offered in his particular line.

This sort of investigation, which previously might have taken days, can be conducted with the aid of the Bureau's Exposition and staff in a few hours, and reliable information ac-cured regarding sources of supply and raw material, transportation facilities, freight rates, trade possibilities, and in short all manner of information pertinent to his enquiry, under one roof and obtainable without effort on his part.

Of course the building has other uses, combining instructive displays of "Made-in-Winnipeg" goods, museum and art section and numerous meeting places, including a large Convention Hall capable of accommodating 4500 people and other features of local interest, and it is indeed, becoming the public forum and centre of civic life in Winnipeg.

Here, visitors from Western Canadian points are also made welcome,
for it is the belief of the Winnipeg Industrial Bureau that the development and progress of Winnipeg are closely identified with that of the great agricultural West.

These Pills Cure Rheumatism.—
To the many who suffer from rheumatism, a trial of Parmenter's Vegetable these organs act as an alternative in preventing the admixture of uric acid disorder. They must be taken according to directions and used standdence of their beneficial effect.

New Trans-Pacific Steamships

All Trans-Pacific records are expected to be broken when the Canadian Pacific Railway puts into service its two new steamships, the Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia. The Empress of Russia was launched a couple of weeks ago at the yards of the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company at Glasgow, Scotland, and as a result, will be the first of the two new vessels to feel the swells of the Pacific. In the meantime, while the vessel is being completed, much discussion is heard among traffic men as to just what effect the new boats will have on Trans-Pacific shipping.
Canadian Pacific officials themselves believe that the introduction of the new boats into the service between Canada and the Orient will mark a new epoch in traffic on the Pacific.
Certain it is, however, that whatever other results are felt, all present records for fast voyages between Canada and Japan and China will be considerably lowered. The Empress of Japan at present holds the record for the fastest voyage the Pacific, having made the distance between Vancouver and Yokohama in 10 days, 10 hours, and 4 minutes, and between Vancouver and Hong Kong in 17 days, 10 hours and 16 minutes, inclusive of stops. The Japan however, has only a contracted speed of 18 knots on a sea trip, while the new Empress steamers are designed for a speed of 29 knots per hour. This great advantage in speed will undoubtedly mean a big reduction in the duration of a Trans-Pacific voyage, and in fact, some shipping men are of the opinion that the Empress of Russia will cut almost 24 hours off the Empress of Japan, Vancouver-Yokohama.

ONLY ONE WAY TO CURE RHEUMATISM

It Must Be Treated Through the Blood and the Poisonous Acid Driven Out

The twinges and tortures of rheumatism are not due to cold, damp weather as so many persons suppose.
Rheumatism comes from poisonous acid in the blood. This is a medical truth which every sufferer should realize. There is only one way to cure rheumatism—it must be treated through the blood. All the liniments and rubbing and so-called electric treatment in the world will not cure rheumatism, and the sufferer who tries them is not only wasting money, but is allowing the trouble to become more deep-rooted in the system and harder to cure when the proper remedy is tried. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the new, rich blood of health, and in this way drive out the poisonous acid which causes rheumatism. Thousands of instances of cures might be given, among which is the following one. Mrs. G. R. Dul-mage, Cherry Valley, Ont., says: "I was attacked with rheumatism, until I gradually grew worse, until I was confined to my bed. For about two weeks I had to be shifted and turned in bed as I was utterly unable to help myself. I was under the doctor's care and so far recovered that I was able to get up and move about, but the trouble still remained in my system. If I put my hands in cold water, or if I went out in the evening or in damp weather the trouble would return, and for four years I thus suffered from rheumatism, until I began to think it could not be driven from my system. Finally I gave up all other medicine and began to use Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills, and after using

Very Mortifying

A doctor and his friend were out walking together one day, and they passed by some houses which the doctor had built, and owned, and which he could seldom let. The doctor remarked to his friend:
I lost money when I built these houses.

Will you be one of the 108 farmers who will receive our Prize Contest checks?

THERE will be twelve cash prizes in each of the nine provinces (108 in all) in the 1912 Prize Contest for Canadian Farmers. The 1911 Contest was so successful in awakening interest in the use of Concrete on the farm, that a second contest, in which three times as many prizes are offered, was decided upon for this year.

The Contest this year is divided into three classes, "A,"
"B," and "C," and there will be four prizes in each class. (First prize, $50; Second prize, $25; Third prize, $15; Fourth prize, $10.)
Thus there are three $50 Prizes, three $25 Prizes, three $15 prizes, and three $10 Prizes, for each province.

DESCRIPTION OF CLASSES

In Each Class there will be First, Second, Third and Fourth Prizes ($50, $25, $15, and $10) for Each Province.

CLASS "A"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who have most "Canada" Cement on their farms in the year 1912.

CLASS "B"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send photographs of the best concrete work done with "Canada" Cement on their farms in 1912.

CLASS "C"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send in the best description, telling how any piece of concrete work was done with "Canada" Cement. (Entries for this prize must be accompanied by photographs of the work.)

Don't think that you must use a large quantity of cement in order to win a prize. The quantity of cement used does not count in Classes "B" and "C." Many of last year's prize winners used very little cement.

When you enter the Contest, you have a chance to win a cash prize of $50 as well as the certainty that you will add a permanent improvement to your farm. If you haven't a copy, be sure and ask for our book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." It will not only suggest many improvements that you can use in entering the Contest, but will tell you all about the use of concrete on the farm.

Just write your name and address on the attached coupon, or use a postal card, and we will send full particulars of the Prize Contest and a copy of "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete" to you absolutely free.

WHAT'S AT THE BOTTOM OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

There are many causes at the bottom of an attack of kidney trouble—over-eating, over-drinking, heavy colds—these and other causes often cause illnesses such as kidney trouble, gall-stones, kidney-stones, gravel, lumbago. But no matter what is at the bottom of the disease, there is now a sure and safe cure,
one that acts quickly and without fail.
That remedy is SANOL, which is already well-known to the medical profession of Canada as well as to thousands of sufferers from the disease named above.
One Winnipeg lady who is well and widely known, was cured of Gall-stones by SANOL after suffering for 12 years. So grateful was she, that she has sent to us a large number of people to be relieved of similar complaints. We do not care where the reader of this paragraph resides, we can give him or her names and addresses of people in his own town and locality who have been cured by SANOL.
We will also give the name and address of the lady referred to, whose complaint had troubled her for such a long period,
and who is now completely cured.
SANOL is manufactured only by the SANOL MANUFACTURING COMPANY
OF CANADA, LTD., 977 Main Street, Winnipeg. For sale by all druggists or direct from the manufacturers at $1.50 per bottle.

Behind and Before

The patience of the sergeant-major was well nigh exhausted. The recruits in the riding-school were hopeless. It seemed as if none of them had ever had any previous acquaintance with a horse.

One of them seemed, if possible, worse than the rest. He had a persistent habit of turning his head round to have a look at the rear of his fiery steed. The sergeant-major had already remonstrated with him, but to no avail.

Look here, my son, he roared. Have you never seen a horse's tail before?
No, sir, came the smart and prompt reply. I have always seen it behind!

Poor old Jones! He had a windfall
last week.

A windfall? Then why do you say poor Jones?

Well, you see, he's an aviator.

Deceiving Poor Polly

The Goodfrees have a sailor son, who on one occasion brought home
a parrot for the amusement and enlightenment of the family. They kept it for the sake of the donor—on no other account would it have been given house room. Of course, it was a perfectly respectable bird—occasionally, but on Sunday evenings, when young Mr. Saintly paid his regular visit, it was deemed advisable to cover
Polly with a cloth.

Recently, however, Mr. S. took advantage of the half holiday accruing to him through the Shops Act, and made an extra call on the Wednesday. As he was ushered in Miss Mary Goodley dexterously threw the cloth over Polly's cage. Greeting over, there ensued the usual awkward passage, which was broken by a squawk from the covered cage.

Well, I'll be everlastingly blessed, said Polly. This has been a thundering short week!

A good story is told about a certain notorious malefactor, which is calculated to make newspaper reporters uncertain and uneasy as to their ultimate fate.

The criminal had been sentenced to death, and the last penalty of the law was about to be enforced. As he stood on the scaffold while the final arrangements were completed, he shook hands with the governor of the gao, the chaplain, and even the hangman; but to the newspaper man who was present he simply nodded, nonchalantly, saying:
Ta-ta, old man. See you later on.

Vulcan Dramatic Society

The Vulcan Dramatic Society was formed a few weeks ago, with the object, not only of amusement during the long winter nights, but also of devoting its services to any good cause in the town and district which may need its support. Primarily however the idea of this society is to cultivate the art of acting among its members, so that they may through the stage, interpret to the audience the dramatic works of our many playwrights.
